New ConTex-Commentary - issued:	06.04.23
This week's New ConTex is continuing its positive development and is climbing, slowly but steadily. Biggest gainers are the bigger ships - whereas in the past week it was merely the 1100 and 1700 TEU sector having a revival, we are now seeing the 3500 TEU and larger coming back. With 780 points the New ConTex has reached its highest count so far this year and for the time being it seems this might continue. Periods fixed start getting longer again and charterers are more willing to pay a (little) premium, if they can keep them short. We do see further increasing rates for the 4250's and above as the actual supply of vessels is still scarce enough. At the moment it is the 2500 and 2700 TEUs for short period which are a bit lame and only gaining 0,9, respectively 0,7% w-o-w. Compared to the ConTex a year ago the figures look awful, that's beyond dispute, but historically we are still enjoying very healthy rates and indices - a fact that may let us look forward to the holidays to come. Happy Easter, everyone!
